RE: Los Angeles Intermodal Facility Change

(2nd Update to Stack Facts #414 (See #416 also))

In addition to below, effective Monday, June 30, 2003, all Domestic business that currently originates at Laredo, and all Mexico ramps and terminates at UPRR City of Industry, will move to the UPRR Los Angeles LATC Intermodal Facility. Current cutoffs, service and availabilities supporting these origins will remain unchanged, only the terminating facility has been revised.

Dear Valued Customer:

Effective Monday, June 30, 2003, Domestic business currently tendered to Pacer Stacktrain at UPRR City of Industry destined for San Antonio, Houston and New Orleans ramps will be supported at UPRR Los Angeles LATC Intermodal Facility. Current Cutoffs and Service supporting the above destinations will remain unchanged, only the originating facility has been revised.

Likewise, in the westbound direction, effective Monday, June 30, 2003, Domestic business currently terminating at UPRR City of Industry that originated at New Orleans, Houston, San Antonio or El Paso ramps will move to the UPRR Los Angeles LATC Intermodal Facility. Current Cutoffs, Service and Availabilities supporting the above origins will remain unchanged, only the terminating facility has been revised.

The above revisions are meant to reduce congestion and resultant delays that are sometimes prevalent at UPRR City of Industry.

Please inform your trucking partners of this change and insure your business is tendered to the correct facility.

Should you have any questions regarding this change in facilities, please do not hesitate to contact your Pacer Stacktrain Customer Service or Business Development Representatives.

Thank you for business, support and cooperation.
