Re: Hurricane Rita Embargo Update

To Our Valued Customers,

The UPRR and CSXT have completely rescinded the Houston embargo. If you recall, all volume operating between Houston - Settegast and the West Coast was opened on Monday, September 26. Effective today, September 29, Houston - Englewood is open with the following guidelines:

- Volume originating from Houston - Englewood and Barbours Cut to West Coast destinations is open without restriction.
- Volume operating in the Eastbound direction from West Coast origins to Houston - Englewood, is open but restricted to a permit system.
- This permit system will allow the UPRR to return volume flows to normal over a graduated time so as to not inundate its Houston - Englewood terminal. This permit system will likely be in place until the beginning of next week or until the back-log of volume is cleared.
- If you require a permit, please contact your local Customer Service Representative.
- We will advise once the permit system is removed.

We appreciate your continued patience and understanding.
